Enjoy!

What is Leberkäse?

This southern German speciality is a rich, compact meatloaf made from finely ground corned beef, pork, bacon and onions and baked till it forms a dark brown crust. Traditionally served warm or cold in finger-thick slices (with the crusty brown ends being the most prized chunks), Leberkäse translates literally as "liver cheese".

In Bavaria, however, where Leberkäse arguably originated and has been produced for over 200 years, it contains neither liver nor cheese. This becomes less confusing when you learn that the word comes not from "Leber" but "Laib", or loaf, referring to its shape and form, and "Käse" because of its dense, cheese-like consistency (source). This liver-free Bavarian meatloaf is known either as Bayrisches Leberkäse (Bavarian Leberkäse) or Fleischkäse ("meat cheese"), and throughout the rest of Germany, where it does contain very strictly controlled amounts of liver, it's known as Leberkäse.

FLASHMOB

GIRLS Just Wanna Have FUN

The Jasyka sisters

suddenly invaded the kitchen for their fun
performance.

Then they took over the bar ...

... to the delight of Hans and Steve!

“ A flash mob is a group of people who assemble suddenly in a public place, perform for a brief time, then quickly disperse.”

And later on tried to distract
Chris Harvey!
