Aber bitte mit
Sahne...

A Sweet Farewell: The Ironic Tale of 'Aber bitte mit Sahne'

Udo Jürgens' song 'Aber bitte mit Sahne' is a satirical and humorous commentary on indulgence and the inevitability of death. The song describes a group of elderly women who meet daily at a café to indulge in a variety of rich, creamy desserts. The repeated phrase 'Aber bitte mit Sahne' (But please, with cream) underscores their insatiable appetite for sweetness and luxury, highlighting a sense of hedonism and excess.

Udo Jürgens

Udo Jürgens was an Austrian composer and singer of popular music whose career spanned over 50 years. He won the Eurovision Song Contest 1966 for Austria.

 The logo features a glass of mulled wine with a cinnamon stick and an orange slice. To the right, the word "Contest" is written in a large, green, bubbly font.

Task:

The contestants had to spoon as much GLÜHWEIN/MULLED WINE as possible into the provided beer mugs within the given time.

Karin's spooning technique has been on point! 🍷👍

Cheers!

 The word "Cheers!" is written in a cursive font, flanked by two silver spoons.

Be prepared for our next luncheon.
